This Agreement is intended to allow You to make informed decisions about using the Site.

By using the Site, the User consents to our collection and use of the information as described in this Agreement. If You do not agree to all of the terms of this Agreement, You should proceed no further on and make no submissions via this Site. This Agreement may change from time to time. INTRODUCTION TO THE SITE

THANK-THE-DONOR is pleased to offer You an opportunity to use the Site. We give Users the ability to create a personal message intended to be sent to the individual (also, the “Donor”) who gave the blood product that is linked to the barcode You scanned into Your message. In order for a message to be successfully submitted, We require the recipient’s first name, last name, email address, a scan of the unique, barcoded Donation Identification Number (also, the “DIN”), and a personal message. We also offer an option to submit a digital photograph. When utilizing location enabled devices to send a message through the site, You also allow Us to gather latitude and longitude geo-location coordinates to help identify the specific hospital, clinic, or other place where the transfusion happened (also, the “Hospital”).

Any message submitted will reflexively be sent to the Donor, if technically feasible, by electronic and/or postal delivery. Success in reaching the Donor with this communication cannot be guaranteed and no representation of such a warranty is expressed or implied. By sending Your message via the Site, You give unrestricted permission and all copyrights to Us and the notified Donor to forward, publish, store, manipulate, or otherwise adapt any and all of the information, images, data, and content for private or public expression. Likewise, unless You specifically opt out at the time You send a message, You automatically authorize THANK-THE DONOR to relay Your message with no limitations on use of the information, images, data and content to the collecting Blood Center, transfusing Hospital and any of their staff, volunteers, vendors, or other constituencies and audiences, specifically to include followers on social media platforms.

After submitting Your messages, You will be queried by the Site as to whether or not You are interested in volunteering, giving blood, sponsoring a blood drive, becoming an advocate, and/or donating money. This set of further engagement possibilities may be changed at any time. You can opt into none, one, or multiple of these offerings. Based on Your responses, the Blood Center or any of its affiliates may contact You to participate in projects related to Your expressed interest. You will have the chance to ask for additional information on these opportunities or to decline any and all such offers for further engagement.
